

Download Beltre Passes Tests Sports

Beltre, 39, is considering retiring after the season. He has said that if he does play in 2019, he wants it only to be with the Rangers. The club has indicated it would be open to bringing him back. Adrian Beltre is bound for Hall of Fame, even if some won't accept his PED-free receipts. After 13 years of passing drug tests, Adrian Beltre couldn't avoid doping suspicions after recording his 3 ... While defensive metrics aren't always dependable, he passes the eye test. Beltré has won five Gold Glove awards, and is constantly praised by scouts for his defensive prowess. Adrian Beltre doubled off Dodgers right-hander Kenta Maeda in the fourth inning Wednesday night for his 3,090th career hit, pushing the Rangers third baseman past Ichiro Suzuki for the most hits ...