

Download California Community Property

Chart providing details of California Community Property Laws ... During the divorce process, property is divided according to its status as "marital property" -- that which was acquired after the marriage and is thus shared -- or personal property that is not subject to division. Community property is a marital property regime under which most property acquired during the marriage (except for gifts or inheritances), the community, or communio bonorum, is owned jointly by both spouses and is divided upon divorce, annulment, or death. Examples & Explanations: California Community Property [Charlotte K. Goldberg] on Amazon.com. FREE shipping on qualifying offers. A favorite among successful students, and often recommended by professors, the unique Examples & Explanations series gives you extremely clear introductions to concepts followed by realistic examples that mirror ... Question: When my husband and I bought our house recently our real estate agent asked us how we wanted to hold title - as joint tenants or community property.