

Download Finding The Magic In Mommyhood

We just had a farmhouse sink put into our kitchen and I am absolutely obsessed!!!! It is the prettiest, deepest, hugest thing ever and I couldn't be happier with it! So, I've been absent from the blog a lot lately, and a large reason for that has been the preparations for my oldest's 11th birthday party. Online shopping for Stepparenting & Blended Families from a great selection at Books Store. How I dealt with gender disappointment during pregnancy when finding out I was having a boy. We were convinced it was a girl. We wanted a girl. We even had chosen a girl's name while we were still engaged—long before a baby was on the scene.