This book gives an inspirational and practical account of the history and philosophy of the Changing Lives Through Literature program, a nationally recognized alternative sentencing program started in Massachusetts. It offers strategies for teaching, detailed lesson plans, and a clear discussion about how to start a program in your area. A must read for anyone interested in using good books to help change lives. In Finding a Voice, you write: "When we talk about changing lives . . . we are also talking about a vision of an inclusive society." RW : I am convinced that literature offers us the best opportunity we have to keep ourselves and our community human.
