Praise “This book delivers on its title 100 Percent. I wish I’d had a copy when I was in college—I would have had a better GPA and a better social life!” So Good They Can’t Ignore You: Why Skills Trump Passion in the Quest for Work You Love. In this eye-opening account, Cal Newport debunks the long-held belief that “follow your passion” is good advice. Cal Newport is an assistant professor at Georgetown University who is interested in why some people end up leading successful lives, while many others do not. In this article, I’ll explain the seven rules I followed to become a straight-A student. (I’ve since completed my formal education.) If you take my advice, I’m confident that you’ll get better grades.
