While Linda ran the daycare, her husband Ron, a guard at a correctional facility, spent time hanging around the daycare, as did their son Travis, then in his late teens and early 20s. The young offender was a female boarder at the Sterling home, where the daycare was based. When a child-abuse scandal is uncovered at an unlicensed daycare in small-town Saskatchewan, it polarizes the community. Frann Harris, a rookie court reporter assigned to the trial the longest in Saskatchewan history starts to wonder if the scope of the alleged crimes is dwarfed by something even more startling: a botched police investigation ...
