Allan Carr was Hollywood's premier party-thrasher during the town's most hedonistic era—the cocaine-addledThe title promises sex, drugs and rock n' roll and delivers all three copiously. The best chapters are about the creation of "La Cage Aux Folles" on Broadway and the 1989 Oscars telecast featuring the infamous opening with Snow White and Rob Lowe. When Tasha Robinson handed me a copy of the Allan Carr biography Party Animals, she wryly noted that the cover featured a giant, sexy photograph of John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John at the ...Party Animals: A Hollywood Tale of Sex, Drugs, and Rock 'n' ...
