From its roots in Africa through its development on the rice plantations to its current renaissance as an art form sought after by collectors and tourists. The Gullah (/ ? ? ? 1 ? /) are African Americans who live in the Lowcountry region of the U.S. states of Georgia and South Carolina, in both the coastal plain and the Sea Islands. The ancient African art of sweetgrass basket making has been practiced for more than 300 years in the Christ Church Parish of Mount Pleasant, South Carolina. Alaska In Alaska, as true for places on earth, the concept of "traditional meals" depends up time and peoples. The meals consumed by the first inhabitants, Russian emigrees, 19th century gold miners, and 21st century residents were very different.
