

Download The Train The Subway Series Book 2

If you've ridden one of these trains then chances are, you are really old. The H series was the third series of rapid transit rolling stock used in the subway system of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. They were built in six production sets, named H1 to H6, from 1965 to 1990 in Thunder Bay, Ontario, for the Toronto Transit Commission (TTC). Wakefield–241st Street-bound 2 train of R142s entering West Farms Square–East Tremont Avenue in the Bronx. We gave my three-year-old son a copy of this as a holiday present. He's a train enthusiast and, as New Yorkers, we ride the subway together frequently, but I was still surprised at how much he took to this book to the exclusion of everything else on his shelf.
