

Download Urban Infrastructure Research

EPA scientists and engineers are working on additional green infrastructure research projects. Learn more about EPA's green infrastructure research. These resources represent the latest and most significant publications on green infrastructure developed by the scientific, regulatory, and 3rd European Urban Green Infrastructure Conference 10–11 April 2019 Here East, Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park, London Early Bird Registration 50% reduction until 31 January News Dry zones and other temperance hangovers Anti-alcohol measures like dry zones are not just a part of history: their legacy continues to feed into our approach to urban planning today. Urban manufacturing has a positive impact on urban space and, in reverse, urban spaces are providing ideal conditions for urban manufacturing.