This has a good range of walks, including many that are longer than the norm. The NW of Gower -- too often overlooked -- is particularly well represented. All are well explained and illustrated, with useful snippets of Gower history/geology etc. thrown in. Best used with an OS but this is not essential. Volunteering on Gower. We've a range of different volunteering opportunities on Gower. From getting your hands dirty with dry stone walling and litter picking, to helping out at our events, we've something for everyone. This is the longest section of the Gower Way, It's a relatively long walk, best suited to experienced walkers. The Gower Way Northern Sector runs north-east from Gowerton through the Lliw Valley to the historic ruined fort of Penlle'r Castell on the summit of Mynydd y Betws.
